

Figure 4.2 This edible landscape features redwood rounds and flagstones with Dutch white clover growing between them. The clover softens the hard look of wood and stone.

Figure 4.6 The Kelleys' edible landscape is compact and close to the kitchen. Size and proximity were carefully considered before construction, to make the design as labor-saving as possible.

Figure 4.9 One of the many "fruit salad" trees at the Floreses' apartments. A number of almond branches have been grafted to this peach tree. In the spring, the tree has a delightful mixture of pale pink and pure white flowers, all blooming at the same time.
